

From sequence to structure, to function, and back again:
Integrating knowledge-based approaches with physical intuitions for protein folding, binding, and design

Yaoqi Zhou

IU School of Informatics

By combining physical and knowledge-based approaches, state-of-the-art bioinformatics tools are developed for protein structure prediction, function prediction (DNA binding) and structure-based protein and ligand design.